Sweet Sixteen Tiara

A Historic Trademark!

Kings and emperors of lands far away long ago have worn tiaras and crowns made of richly adorned fabric and leather. If you're having an ancient themed sweet sixteen, why not adorn your head with a roman wreath gold leaf crown? Once the ultimate status symbols of ancient kings and queens were crowns and tiaras, however, as time passed these headpieces or hair jewelry adornments have evolved as tokens of love passed to children from doting parents. Hence why many young women and brides adorn themselves with these symbolic hair decorations given to them by their loving parents. This is a parents chance to relive the memories of their daughter's childhood as they place a rhinestone crown atop the head of their grinning daughter in remembrance of the yellow daffodil flower wreaths they used to make!
